Bio

Renée was born in Nashville and raised in country music. She has toured for many years as a background vocalist for Faith Hill, Tim McGraw, Patty Loveless, Pam Tillis, Billy Dean, Jessica Andrews, and countless other artists in country, pop and gospel music.

A career highlight in 2000, was being featured on the CBS “Faith Hill Thanksgiving Special.” When Faith asked Renée, “What does your family do for Thanksgiving?” she was able to share a very spiritual moment of how they express gratitude. That one event renewed a passion in Renée’s soul for helping people experience a deeper relationship with God, family and friends.

Renée has seen many dreams come true in her lifetime, but God has shown her an even bigger plan. During a sold out show with Tim and Faith, at Madison Square Garden, on the “Soul 2 Soul” tour in 2000, God said, “This was as big as you could dream, but I can dream bigger” As Renée looked out at the audience of 25,000 fans, all she could think was, “I wonder if they are truly happy, if they know where their kids are, and do they know the Lord?” At that moment, Renée knew this would be her last tour in country music.
